DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to because figures 3 and 4 do not have description labels for parts of the individual boxes. A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-33 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hinrichs in view of Kenney et al.

With regard to claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 10, 13, 14, 18, 19, 22, 23, and 27-33, Hinrichs teaches a system for controlling a manufacturing process comprising: a sensor for measuring an operational parameter of the manufacturing process comprising a resin and reinforcement (fig. 4, part 50), a signal generator and transmitter (fig. 4 & col. 9, lines 43-48), a process controller (col. 9, lines 48-54), a process control software associated with the process controller wherein the software adjusts the operational parameters (col. 5, lines 34-40), and a transmitter for sending operational instructions from the remote location to the manufacturing locations where the remote site has the ability to change programming of the process controller on a real-time basis (col. 5, lines 40+).

Hinrichs, however, does not specify one or more manufacturing process being controlled remotely. Kenney et al teaches a real time process control system for a manufacturing process that controls the process of a plurality of manufacturing facilities remotely (col. 2, lines 12+ and col. 36, lines 28+). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to modify Hinrichs, so that the process is controlled remotely, as taught by Kenney et al, in order to save costs by having just one process controller controlling a plurality of facilities.

With regard to claims 2, 3, 8, 11, 12, 20, 21, Hinrichs teaches a pressure in the manufacturing process being measured (col. 5, lines 5-7).

With regard to claims 6, 7, 15-17, and 24-26, Hinrichs teaches a temperature in the manufacturing process being measured (fig. 5, lines 1-4).

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-33 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Saunders, Handel et al, Rimondi et al, Keller et al, and Lee et al, teaches a method of controlling a resin monitoring system by a real-time process controller.
